

- (1) 1-F, 2-E, 3-D, 4-C, 5-B, 6-A
- (2) 1-A, 2-E, 3-D, 4-C, 5-B, 6-F
- (3) 1-F, 2-C, 3-D, 4-E, 5-B, 6-A
- (4) None of these

2. Dad tried to explain
There are two teams in cricket.
The above statement is
- (1) True                      (2) False
  - (3) Can't say              (4) None of these
3. Each team has has 13 players.
- (1) True                      (2) False
  - (3) Can't say              (4) None of these
4. What protection he needs if the ball hits him?

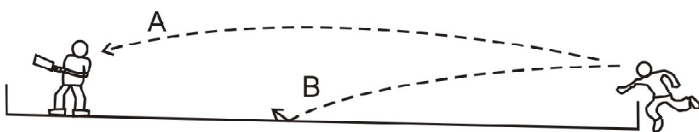

- (1) Helmet                      (2) Thigh guard
- (3) Shin gaurd              (4) Gloves

5. What protection he needs if the ball hits him?

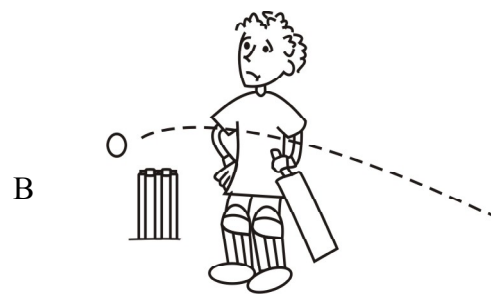

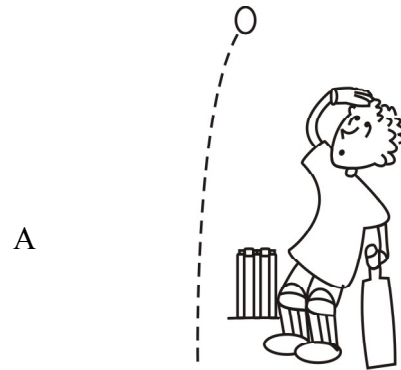

- (1) Shin garud              (2) Helmet
- (3) Gloves                      (4) Chest protector

6. What is A and B?

- (1) Full toss, Bull toss
- (2) Short pitch, Full toss
- (3) Full toss, Short pitch
- (4) Full toss, Full toss

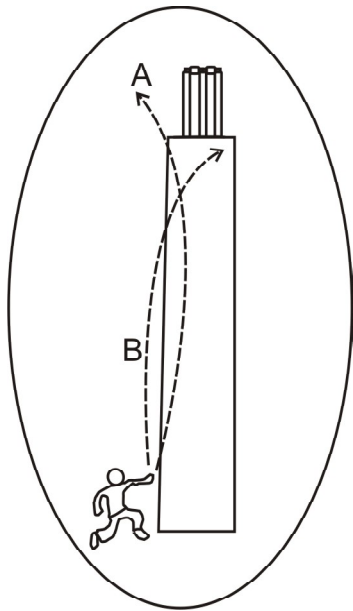

7. Look at the pictures given below

In all the above situations have you thrown the ball correctly?

- (1) True                      (2) False
- (3) Can't say              (4) None of these

8. If you're only supposed to rub one side of the ball so it gets shiny. This helps the ball swing. Match the swings

- (1) Outswing
- (2) Inswing
- (3) Both (1) & (2) are correct
- (4) None of these are correct

9. your friend explained that if you hit the ball and someone catches it before it hits the ground, the batsman is out. Pointing a finger in the air is the way umpires signal to a batsman that he's out. Is he correct?

- (1) Yes
- (2) No
- (3) Can't say
- (4) None of these

10. Your friend was bowling. This time the ball went under your bat, through your legs and hit those sticks with the bits of wood on top. Is he out

- (1) Yes
- (2) No
- (3) Can't say
- (4) None of these

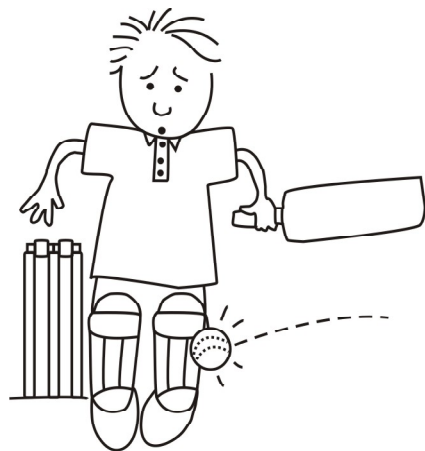

11. In question 10, what are those 'sticky things' called?

- (1) Bales
- (2) Stump
- (3) Stick
- (4) None of these

12. How do you score runs in cricket

- (1) Hit the ball you and the other batsman hae to run between the wickets. and each run is like a point.
- (2) You hit the ball tothe boundary, then it's four runs.
- (3) If the ball flies over the boundary without touching the ground, then it's a six (six runs).
- (4) All of these

13. You are 'out' because you tried to protect the wicket with your legs, and not the bat. This is known as

- (1) Yorker
- (2) Gugally
- (3) LBW
- (4) None of these

14. LBW stands for
 (1) Left ball wide      (2) Leg before wicket
 (3) Last ball wicket    (4) None of these
15. I hit the ball hard

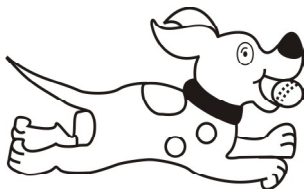

I remembered to set out for a run.

I was going to score a run!
 My first run everAA

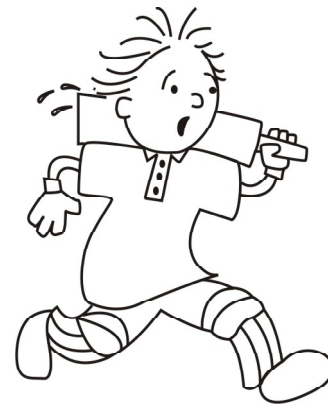

Spot, who was looking very bored, suddenly raced after the ball.

Spot grabbed the ball and ran back to the crease.

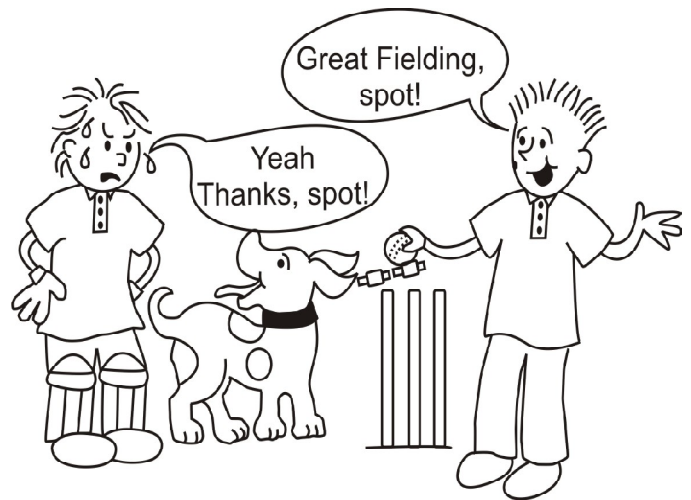

I was half way across.

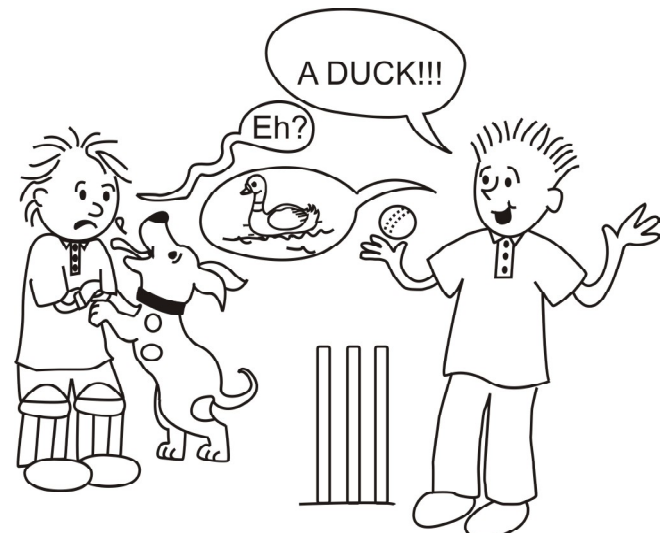

Spot dropped the ball.

A fielder picked it up and knocked off the bails.
 Does that means I'm out too?

- (1) Yes                      (2) No
 (3) Can't say              (4) None of these

16. If you get out on 'Zero' then you are a batsmen who has scored a

- (1) Cricket
- (2) Frog
- (3) Duck
- (4) Salmon

17. The coach explained that “googlies” and “flippers” and “wrong ‘uns” and “Chinamen” were just different ways of bowling the ball. Is he correct?

- (1) Yes
- (2) Yes, except chinamen
- (3) Yes, except flippers
- (4) None of these

18. My coach says “you’re supposed to bowl seven times in a row unless you bowl a no ball.” Is he correct?

- (1) Yes
- (2) No
- (3) Can’t say
- (4) None of these

19. Match the columns

Column I

Column II

1. My arm was crooked

A. No ball

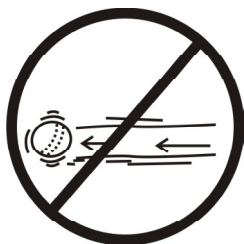

2. I stepped over the line

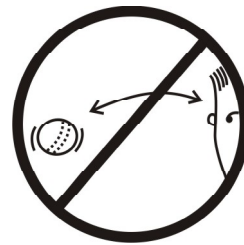

B. Correct ball

3. I bowled a beamer (threw it straight at the other guy)

4. I bowled a wide (too far from the player to hit)

5. Too high

- (1) 1-A, 2-A, 3-A, 4-A, 5-A
- (2) 1-A, 2-B, 3-A, 4-B, 5-A
- (3) 1-B, 2-A, 3-B, 4-A, 5-B
- (4) None of these

20. I bowled a proper delivery! The batsman hit it.

A couple of fielders ran after it. It was in the air.

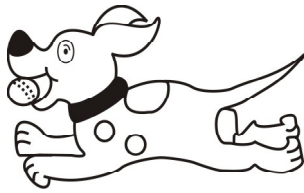

Maybe they’d catch it and I’d get my first wicket!!! I’d forgotten about spot.

He looked at me.

Spot chared away after the ball. I watched him with horror.

I thought he’d understood.

Spot leapt in the air and caught the ball in his mouth.

He looked at the two fielders running towards him.
He ran right over the boundary rop and dropped the ball on the ground.

The umpire raised his hands and said Six!!!
Is the umpire correct?

- (1) No, it is a foul
- (2) No, it is a four
- (3) Yes, its a six
- (4) None of these

21. I hit the ball again

I looked up. Sure enough, the ball was hurtling down at me.

I caught it.

Theumpire said I am out because if a batsman catches the ball, he's out. Even if he's protecting his head from serious injury.

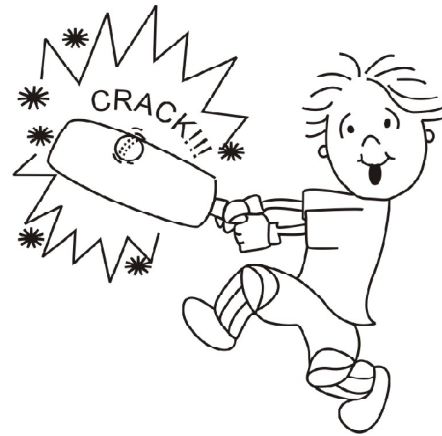

Is the umpire correct?

- (1) No, he is gased
- (2) No, he is wrong
- (3) Yes, he is correct
- (4) None of these

22. This is the last ball of the match and you have to score 6 runs to wins.

The bowler came running in.

I swung the bat as if my life depended on it.

I heard the beatiful sound of leather on willow.
Everyone looked in the air.

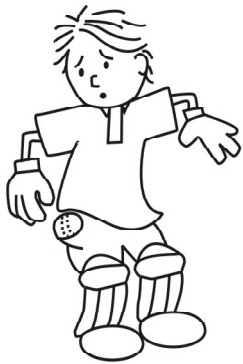

Was it a FOUR?

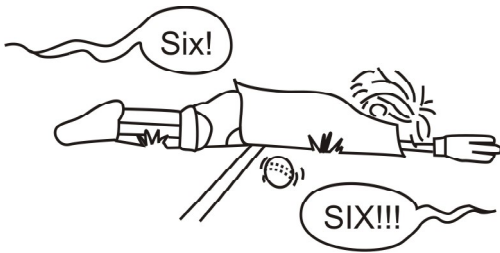

Was it a SIX?

I looked down. Hari was right I must have caught an inside edge and the ball had flown into my Pocket.

If you start running towards the boundary and you manage a jump over the boundary with the ball still deep in your pocket without touching them, without any of the fielders catching you.....

Then.....

- (1) You are out and have lost the game.
- (2) You have scored a six and have won the game.
- (3) You cannot run with the ball in your pocket, so you lose
- (4) None of these

23.

- (1) (2)
- (3) (4)

24.

- (1) (2)
- (3) (4)

25.

- (1) (2)
- (3) (4)